How to get flooded with an Amazon river of riches.

Using FBA, Jacky is able to buy cheap items on other sites, rebrand them and then sell them on Amazon for a much higher price, effectively earning thousands of dollars from home with minimal effort.

To harness this tool, per Jacky's tutorial, simply go to "sell.amazon.com to become an Amazon seller." After getting your e-bazaar bonafides, go to the website Helium10.com - a special software for Amazon FBA and Walmart sellers

- where there's a tool called Black Box that's free to use.

She demonstrates how to "input criteria" and "use filters" to nail down a "viable winning product." Jacky defines this as an item

that's simultaneously cheap enough to buy in bulk but also boasts enough value to be rebranded and resold for a pretty penny, generally $25 or more.

Jacky says sellers can increase interest by uploading pictures of the item and also

"building your listing with great keywords that best describe your product."

In addition, it takes about "four to five months" for people to launch their first product, according to Jacky. In a video, she added that prospective sellers also need a "blueprint" for a product with proven track record,

"because if you don't have this" the user will make a lot of "costly mistakes."
