When placing a football bet, you may notice it says "90 minutes only," or something similar.

But, the team you bet on in a cup match may win after extra-time and you would still lose your bet as the game was level after 90 minutes.

Everton were leading 1-0 after 90 minutes, but United equalised through a 94th minute penalty from Zlatan Ibrahimovic.

The same applies for the recent England vs Germany match in the Under-21 European Championships.

Exceptions to This Rule

Some bookmakers will offer odds on how the tie will be decided.

With this market, you have several different options for teams to win after extra time or penalties.

As Ashley Williams was also sent off in the 93rd minute of this match, betting on a red card in 90 minutes would also have been a winner.

Free bets

There are plenty of different opportunities to grab free bets to use on racing, including welcome offers, loyalty clubs, and free bet if 2nd:

We like BetVictor, Betfred and Betway for free horse racing bets. Enhanced odds are offered on a range of different racing markets - such as each way (Bet365) and specials (Paddy Power).

Double result & First past the post

Double result and first past the post are essentially two variations of the same horse racing betting offer.

With first past the post, it's the other way round - if your horse finishes first but is subsequently demoted following a Stewards enquiry, your bet will still get paid out as a winner. Money back
